

Stand out from the crowd

School of Law

Essex is one of the UK's leading academic institutions, rated ninth for research. The School of Law has an international reputation for research and a commitment to providing legal education of the highest quality. It received a three rating (internationally excellent) for its overall research quality. The School offers a range of specialised degrees, taught by internationally renowned experts, which prepare students to become leaders of the legal community as expert scholars and practitioners.

Taught Degrees

- LLM in EU Law and Comparative Legal Studies
- LLM in European Business Law (Pallas Programme)
- LLM in European Union Law
- LLM in Health Care Law and Human Rights
- LLM in Information Technology, Media and e-Commerce
- LLM in International Human Rights & Humanitarian Law
- LLM in International Human Rights Law
- LLM in International Trade Law
- LLM in UK Human Rights and Public Law

The School makes a substantial contribution to the MA in Theory and Practice of Human Rights which is offered by the University's acclaimed Human Rights Centre. The Human Rights Centre is the oldest and largest of its kind in the UK, boasting a network of around 1,500 alumni working around the world.

The Centre has also announced two novel degrees: an MSc in Human Rights and Research Methods and an MA in Human Rights and Cultural Diversity.

Research Study

PhD and MPhil opportunities are available in most fields of law and the School has funds to award University scholarships to outstanding applicants.

For taught degrees
T +44 (0)1206 872587
E law-pgt@essex.ac.uk

For research study
T +44 (0)1206 872585
E law-research@essex.ac.uk
www.essex.ac.uk/law/

For the Human Rights Centre
T +44(0)1206 872529
E hrep@essex.ac.uk
www.essex.ac.uk/hrc